and Bad Work will Result
There.

Serious Rant.

TROUBLE.

Is Still Brooding About St. Louis.
St. Louis, Mo. April 15.—An unknown man fired on a militia patrolman early this morning in the Vandala yards at East St. Louis.

Two rails were removed last night on the Cairo Short line near Bellville, but were discovered before the train came.

At noon to-day the officers of the Knights of Labor ordered the tying up of all cars of Union, Peoples and Central companies and the work was done as rapidly as cars reached respective stations.

THE STRIKE OVER.

PALESTINE, Tex., April 15.—The strike here is apparently ended. Of the 120 men working in the shops seventy-eight are old employees, some of whom were in the strike at St. Paul, Minn.

GOULD AND POWDELY.

Jay Gould and Master Workmen Powderly have exchanged strong letters. Powderly writes a masterly manifesto, inviting arbitration and Gould seems fearless of all threats.

A requisition for the deputies who did the shooting at East St. Louis was refused yesterday by Governor Oglesby, because the papers were not drawn according to the statutes.

SCHOOL CHILDREN ON A STRIKE.

COLUMBUS, O., April 15.—The pupils in one of the public school buildings struck for less time in the school room, and the police were called upon to enforce the orders of the teachers. Thirteen boys have been suspended and the strike is over.

THE TAILORS STRIKE.

MILWAUKEE, April 15.—The largest strike ever known in Milwaukee has been inaugurated by the shop tailors' union. Over 4,000 operatives are affected. The strike is to secure the adoption of a new scale of prices. All of the whole sale establishments in the city are affected.

BOYCOTTERS ARRESTED.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Eight boy-cotters who peddled circulars before the bakery of Mrs. Gray, last night, were arrested for disorderly conduct.

MARTIN IRONS,

The Leader of the Strikers on the Gould Railroads.

The chairman of the executive committee of the Knights of Labor, District No. 101, is Martin Irons, of St. Louis. He it was who precipitated the strike on the Missouri Pacific railroad by ordering the members of the Knights of Labor employed on the Gould system to quit work until their grievances were heeded. Mr. Irons is a Scotchman, stubborn, aggressive and self-reliant. In this respect he is said to resemble no man more than his antagonist, Vice-President and General Manager Hoxie, of the Missouri Pacific. It is a contest in which the leaders are well matched. If the support on both sides were also equally balanced there would be a chance of victory resting with the right.

One of the results of the prominence given to Mr. Irons by this strike is a flood of telegrams and correspondence which pours in upon him every day. The majority of these letters bring encouragement, advice and substantial support. The antagonists find it also bounding him. He has received a request with an accompanying check of $50 for a five-page article from one of the magazines. Through his present notoriety he has also received a letter from a sister who has been seeking him for twenty years. His mother, it appears, died in New Orleans after the war leaving considerable property. They advertised in every way for Martin in order that he should receive his share of the estate, but were never able to find him until now.

The coal mines of the Brazil district draw $175,000 in wages monthly.

IN PARLIAMENT.

Where Mr. Gladstone Made His Speech for Ireland.

Next to the American civil war, the settlement of Ireland's troubles is the most important history that has been made in the last half of the Nineteenth century—if they are settled, that is to say. Every lover of civilization and progress is hoping that they may be, and that they may be decided as Ireland wants them to be.

Nothing is more remarkable than the change which has taken place, both in Great Britain and America, in the sentiment on the Irish question. Home rule for the unhappy island was an idea scoffed with derision by all but a handful of dreamers and malcontents twenty years ago. "Solid" Americans and Englishmen alike ridiculed it.

But the Irish began to come over to America by the thousands. Shipload after shipload of them, exiles from their native isle, landed at Castle Garden and scattered thence throughout the length and breadth of the republic.

Along with him he brought his love for the old country, the hapless mother land. He thrived and begot children by the half score. To every one of these he gave as a secret trust the love of Ireland and the remembrance of her wrongs. These children in turn thrived. They got education and money in this free land. They became lawyers, editors, congressmen, high officials and millionaires, and they multiplied. How they did multiply and increase! And every one of them to a man, and every daughter among the women cherished still the remembrance of old Ireland and her wrongs. Behold! Almost before anybody knew it there was a new Ireland in America—rich, united and strong. It became an element that no political aspirant dared ignore. Then at last the "solid" Americans themselves began to see that Ireland had wrongs and it suddenly became clear to the boldest that the Green Isle ought to have her own sayso about her own affairs.

So the change came about. It came about the same way in Great Britain.

The Irish element, united under intelligent leadership, became too strong to be ignored.

GLADSTONE RISES TO SPEAK.

Those who have followed English politics have watched Gladstone gradually growing to the occasion. Year by year the course of natural statesmanship development has brought him to the lofty plane whence the other day he looked benignantly down on his fellow countrymen and proposed home rule for Ireland.

He is the most splendid figure in European statesmanship to-day. If he carry home rule for Ireland, he will be the greatest figure in Europe in the Nineteenth century. Bismarck cemented a nation with blood and iron, but Gladstone will have freed a people by the divine arts of peace. It is better, far better, to be Gladstone than Bismarck.

Undoubtedly the greatest day of the premier's life will be that on which he introduced his bill for home rule for Ireland. They say there never was heard such cheering in the house of commons in all the centuries as when he arose to introduce his bill. It was so tremendous that it disconcerted him a little, and he paled before it when he first arose.

Very different is the English house of commons from the American house of representatives at Washington, and the difference is not in favor of the British organization either. For one thing, an English member has no particular seat through the season. It is first come, first served. A member may preserve a seat to himself for one night by putting his card into a little brass receptacle at the back of a chair. He may also secure a quatter's claim by placing his bat upon a chair beforehand. This is called "hatting," and is very common. But it must be the bat which the member wears for the day; consequently he is obliged to walk around bat-headed while his hat guards his seat.

He thinks things, if he is silent. He does his best to discharge every expression from his face, but a close observer can read between the lines. He knows things well worth saying about the heads that he manipulates—what has streaked the hair, or killed it, or broken it off. The ladies conscious of guilt in the matter of dyes and bleaches do their best sometimes to throw him off the track; but they can't. He shuts his eyes tight, closes his mouth firmer, and nothing replies. What is it to him what they do with their heads, anyway? Scarcely one woman out of thirty has healthful, beautiful hair. Girls of 13 are gray often, their hair dead or dying, stubby and broken. The general decay of hair has given rise to hosts of "hair doctors" and "scalp surgeons," men and women, many of them the most ignorant quacks, who drive a lively business on the declining capillary charms of women.

EBBON OLIVER.

The plans of St. Mary's church have been enlarged and beautified.

A vacant house owned by Dr. Brooks, burned near the organ factory last night.

Mrs. Byron Hattersley, who has been quite ill at her home, on Broadway, is convalescing.

The annual reports of the officers are published and they show how thorough, careful and simple Messrs. Rockhill and Berghoff manage and present the municipal affairs.

Mr. H. K. Parry of Huntington, yesterday took charge of the W. H. Fleming boot and shoe store, having purchased the same. Mr. Parry is a very agreeable gentleman, a thorough business man, and we welcome him in our midst.

Mrs. John A. Stein and daughter will make their home hereafter with the family of Judge Dykeman, at Logansport.

Another feature of the British house which an American will not like is the difficulty of getting into it. Strangers must be invited by a member, and have a ticket to show the police that line the doorways and corridors, before he can get inside. But there is only

MINNEAPOLIS, April 15. About 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon a cyclone swept through the cities of St. Cloud and Sauk Rapids, Minnesota, killing fifteen or more persons in each place and wrecking hundreds of buildings. A special train with eleven physicians was sent out from Minneapolis at 6 o'clock, the path cut through St. Cloud is six hundred yards wide. Storms have been raging throughout the state for thirty hours, greatly impairing telegraphic communication. The town of Coon Rapids, Iowa, was also visited by a cyclone at 4:30 p.m., the result being the death of a boy and the destruction of forty or more buildings.

GHASTLY SIGHT.

This is a calamity the ghastly details of which have never been equalled since the harvest of death at New Ulm and Rochester a few years ago, and the cities groaning and wailing under a pall of grief that is intensified as each hour brings to light fresh evidence of the terrible work of the elements. The sun rose where happiness reigned in every family, and their peace was not marred by any shadow of the terrible pall of gloom that settled down on the community before the sun had sunk to rest. A few minutes after 4 o'clock the skies became overcast with a dark cloud, and a great black mass rose over the hills southwest of St. Cloud and coming with terrific velocity toward the western outskirts, in a direct line for the Manitoba freight yards.

THE CLOUDS HANG LOW

and rolled over and over like smoke over a battle field, and were accompanied by a loud roaring and crackling sound that resembled a conflagration in its fury.

The cloud was funnel-shaped and the point dragged along the ground like the tail of a huge aerial beast, lashing everything that came in its path into atoms. Citizens had hardly time to flee to their cellars and seek other points of refuge before the whirlwind was on them and the air was filled with flying boards, shingles, bricks, and other debris, that was strewn over the country and piled in promiscuous heaps. It came from the southeast and moved in a northeasterly direction.

THE PARTICULARS TO-DAY.

SAUK RAPIDS, Minn., April 15.—The devastation caused by a cyclone yesterday is terrible. Not a single business house is left standing on Main street and many residences are demolished. The court house is a heap of ruins, and several county officers were killed. The Union school house, Presbyterian and Congregational churches, postoffice, flouring mill and a large machine shop, were all converted into kindling wood in less time than it takes to tell it. Only the city hotel remains intact. The Northern Pacific depot was literally blown away, and a large number of freight cars overturned upon the tracks. Twenty two dead bodies have been recovered from the ruins. A large number of people were injured. The total loss of property is not less than $300,000, with not a dollar of insurance. The town is nearly ruined. Among the killed and injured are:

John Reinard county auditor, killed. Gregg Lindley, county recorder, severely wounded.

S. N. Wright, county treasurer, slightly injured.

AT JAMESTOWN, DAK.

Jamestown was visited yesterday afternoon by a small cyclone, followed by a heavy electrical storm.

CHICAGO.

Special despatches from Panama, Ia., say the cyclone at Coon Rapids yesterday was more serious than first expected.

One boy was killed, numerous other persons injured, twenty-five houses, two churches, one school house and several business houses destroyed. A freight train and its locomotive were blown from the track and the contents were ruined. The cyclone swept over western Iowa, doing considerable damage.

FORTY NINE KILLED AND TWO HUNDRED INJURED.

At St. Cloud, Sauk Rapids, Rice's station and other points in the vicinity there were forty-nine dead known early this morning and about 200 injured.

Many are still missing who will probably be recovered to-day.

The sign "Sauk Rapids" in the Manitoba depot and a basketful of books was found at Rice's station, fifteen miles distant.

The storm extended from Jamestown, Dak., through Minnesota and Wisconsin.

AWFUL.

SEVENTY-ONE DEATHS ALREADY REPORTED.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 15.—At a church at Rice's station, twelve, instead of ten of a wedding party were killed, including the officiating minister.

At Sauk Rapids thirty-one are already dead, and the list will be swelled to forty. At St. Cloud at least thirty deaths will result.

A BAD WRECK.

On the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne Railroad.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 15.—Passenger train No. 8 on the Fort Wayne road ran into the rear sleeper of the Chicago limited near Orville, Ohio, this morning shortly before daylight, badly wrecking it. The express messenger John Aughbaugh, was internally injured.

None of the passengers were seriously hurt, the accident is attributed to a failure of the air brake.

ONE MORE.

Near Youngstown, Ohio, this morning

the night express on the Pittsburg and Lake Erie road ran into the caboose of a freight train, completely telescoping it.

Engineer Robert Grau, Fireman Hooper and Conductor Carley, of the freight, were badly hurt.

Three Men Engage in a Fight on Horseback.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

CHICAGO, April 15.—A special dispatch from Eastland, Texas, says that a triangular fight on horseback took place near here yesterday, between John and Tom Ellison on one side and W. S.

Hardin on the other. Tom Ellison was killed by a bullet from Hardin's pistol.

About twenty shots were fired. John

Ellison and Hardin perforated each other with bullets. Hardin cannot live and is seriously wounded.

A LEVEL-HEADED NEWSDEALER.

Newsdealers are as a class popularly supposed to know a good thing when they see it, and are ever on the lookout for that which will interest and please the public. In a humble way Edison was once a newsdealer, having sold papers on railroads. Among newsdealers who have a keen eye to business and to everything that can be of benefit is Mr. G. W. Dove, of Vincennes, Ind., whose place of business is at No. 114 Second street. Mr. Dove was recently afflicted with rheumatism, but quickly cured himself by using Athlophorus. This is what he says about it:

"Athlophorus is a good medicine and it did for me all that I could ask. At the time when I began using it I was sadly afflicted with rheumatism. I was in a helpless state and suffered until pain, not being able to get out of bed or to be moved without enduring the greatest agony. I had read some time before of the wonderful cures of people effected by Athlophorus, and at the time tried to put it at the drug stores, but could not find any. As I was determined to try it I sent to the company for some."

"Did it act quickly upon you?"

"I felt the effects almost immediately. After I had taken a few doses the pain subsided. The medicine seemed to go directly where the pain was."

"I have not suffered any to speak of since. I used only three bottles and consider it the best medicine for rheumatism that I know of. I recommended it to a gentleman in St. Louis who had his mother use some and was very much pleased with the result. I have recommended it to different persons, and in every instance where it was used it gave entire satisfaction."

J. A. Wilson, the well-known photographer, 6 and 8 Main St., New Albany, tells an equally interesting story of how Athlophorus cured him of rheumatism:

"I only used one bottle," he says. "The rheumatism was in my arms and I had sharp, shooting pains. I was suffering and complaining a great deal, when a friend coming into my gallery one morning asked me what the trouble was. I said it was rheumatism. Said my friend: 'I was reading of a medicine that is for the cure of rheumatism and neuralgia. It struck me forcibly, as it did not claim to cure every complaint that flesh is heir to.' When I asked him what it was he said the name was Athlophorus. I bought a bottle on the strength of what he said. That was all I needed. I used the one bottle over six months ago and have not had a pain or an ache from rheumatism since."

From Greencastle, Ind., D. L. Sonthard has this to say of what Athlophorus did for him:

"When Bishop Bowman brought me a bottle of Athlophorus I was suffering greatly from rheumatism and could scarcely move. I began taking the medicine on Thursday morning. At 9 P. M. I went to sleep and slept until 6 o'clock Friday morning, when I got up and said to my wife: 'Dear, look here, I am well!' At the first I was so much better that I stopped using the medicine and the rheumatism came back. The second attack was not stopped so easily, but still in double the time the Athlophorus removed the pain. The medicine had no unpleasant effect, but seemed to quiet, soothe and give relief."

If you cannot get Athlophorus of your druggist, we send one direct to you or to any of our agents or dealers in the country. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't, do not be perturbed to try sending one to him, or to us, from our direct, ATHLOPHORUS CO., 112 Wall Street, New York.

COMMON COUNCIL.

Proceedings of the Local Legislature in Regular Session.

REPORT OF CITY ATTORNEY

In the matter of the bonds of the assessors, I have no objection to their regular and I recommend their approval.

In the matter of the Taber petition, asking that lot 5 in Ewing's lots be taxed for the year 1885 at town rates. I recommend the prayer of the petitioner be granted.

The property in question is divided by Baker street. Upon each side of said street is a less quantity than five acres, while both parcels exceeds that quantity and it is my opinion strict construction of the statute requires that the legislature intended to exempt only such lands as are unimproved or are used for agricultural purposes, or wholly unimproved, and being in one tract or parcel less than five acres in quantity.

Cash in funds April 1, '86.

Amount due from Water to general funds of the city for money advanced to the water works during construction in 1882-3. . . . . $25,082.83

It is impossible to make a correct statement of the ledger balances at this date, approximating the taxes now collected, because this balance is not yet balanced, but the amounts in the city and a comparison made now, when only one half are paid, with the same date of last year, when all were paid, would be a good approximation, according to you as to the public. I will furnish you as to the tax levies for January 1, 1887, when all taxes are collected, and the amount of the tax levy for the financial showing of this year, will be more satisfactory than that of any year previous, and I believe that your honorable body will be as satisfied over the amount of the tax levy for the coming fiscal year as you have been in the past, there will be money enough on hand to redeem the greatest portion of the Grand Rapids railroad bonds due payable April 1, 1887, to wit: $67,000. I also think that the final amount of the tax levy at present is such as to warrant an increase of 5 to 10 per cent. in the tax levy or per cent. of the appraised value of real estate for the ensuing year, and thus reduce the burden of the tax levy, but I have no statement showing the amounts due from water works to the general funds during the construction of said works, and the amount of the tax levy or the amount of water works on April 1, 1886, viz: $13,611.73, and I think that if the reservoir is finished with the money now at the disposal of the trustees, the interest on the water works bond will pay the principal of the money, and should save $10,000 per annum to the general fund, or 11 per cent. of the tax levy or the amount advanced should gradually paid back to the general fund.

THE OREGON'S CABIN.

One Hundred and Twenty Feet Below the Ocean's Surface.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Mr. Merritt, of the wrecking company that has charge of the sunken Oregon, was seen at his dock, at Stapleton, Staten Island, where is kept the powerful machinery and peculiarly-built vessels requisite for this hazardous business. Mr. Merritt was not in the very best of humor in speaking of the Oregon. He wished he had never undertaken the job. In their business the risks are tremendous and the profits uncertain. It is based on the no, care is no principle. "Here we have had a force of some thirty odd men, besides a steamer and schooner, hovering over the wreck for a month," continued Mr. Merritt, "and we have accomplished very little. A New York newspaper, becoming impatient at our delay, engaged a single tug and a couple of divers to visit the wreck and make an immediate investigation. The reporters in charge of the expedition got so deathly sick that they insisted on returning home. The tug itself was nearly swamped in the sea, and the expedition, which ended in a day, cost the paper over $300. That newspaper has spoken less harshly of our work since.

It was argued that there was a marriage because the parties had knelt down in New Hampshire, and with uplifted hands, called God to witness that they intended to live together as man and wife; that they acknowledged deeds before a justice of the peace as man and wife, and visited New York, where they registered at a hotel and held themselves out as being married. I cannot find that the acts done in New Hampshire constituted a marriage any more than they would if done in this State. Neither does the acknowledging of the deeds before a justice of the peace constitute an acknowledgment by the parties that they intended to become man and wife before him and I cannot believe that the State of New York lays hold of persons unawares and gives to their acts a construction never dreamed of by them when they are merely transitory residents in the State.

The motor was dismissed, and the sole lawyer lost his case by proving more was necessary.

BAD BREATH arises from the stomach, and can be easily corrected if you take Simmons Liver Regulator. It is peculiarly adapted to the stomach, correcting acidity, destroying foul gases and allying inflammation. Take, after eating, a half-tablespoonful, it assimilates with the food and ensures perfect digestion, without which that repulsive disorder, bad breath, must ensue. The Regulator removes biliousness, cures dyspepsia, constipation and sick headache, is purely vegetable and harmless.

I think Ely's Cream Balm is the best remedy for cataract I ever saw. I never took anything that relieved me so quickly and I have not felt so well for a long time. DR. A. C. HOXIE'S CERTAIN CROUP CURE.

—This preparation, a private and original prescription, was extensively used in an unlimited practice for many years with perfect results by the late A. C. Hoxie, M. D., of Buffalo, N. Y. Having thoroughly tested and tried this remedy, he had no hesitation in pronouncing it positive, swift and sure to cure Croup in its most aggravated form. It contains camphor, camphor oil, and according to directions, its powerful and direct effect upon the diseased mucous membrane, render it particularly valuable to those living at a distance from a physician, and it is also necessary to call in a professional aid, if the "Certain Croup Cure" is near at hand. While powerful and effective, it contains no opium or any form of opiate, and any druggist can have a doctor's or physician's effect upon the system. The most delicate infant may take it, as directed, with perfect safety. Price $1.00. For sale by all first-class druggists, wholesale and retail.

BEN BUTLER can be said to have given the Massachusetts Supreme Court "too much of a good thing" in his argument defending Maria Taylor Norcross in her suit for alimony pending her application for divorce from Alvin C. Norcross. The case turned on the question of the legality of an agreement to live together as man and wife. There was no other marriage ceremony, but this has held good for eighteen years and Judge Oliver Holmes, Jr., in deciding the case said: "Had counsel stopped here I should have assumed that a marriage had taken place, no evidence to the contrary being introduced on the other side." But Gen. Butler went on at great length and argued the facts which he claimed constituted a marriage and this left no opportunity for the court to make a presumption. Judge Holmes concluded:

A double-headed calf with two distinct and perfectly formed skulls and necks was born on the farm of a Mr. Futchey in Pow Pow township, Wabash county. The body of the animal in no wise differs from that of an ordinary calf. The life of the brute cannot be preserved.

A fashion writer says the "leg of mutton stews have not proved successful," but Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup still continues to be used by everybody for coughs or colds.

STRIKES!

Seem to be all the Rage Now.

The Trouble at St. Louis Getting Cloudy and Bad Work will Result There.

The School Children at Columbus and The Tailors at Milwaukee on a Serious Rant.

TROUBLE.

Is Still Brooding About St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., April 15.—An unknown man fired on a militia patrolman early this morning in the Vandals yards at East St. Louis.

Two rails were removed last night on the Cairo Short line near Bellville, but were discovered before the train came.

At noon to-day the officers of the Knights of Labor ordered the lining up of all cars of Union, Peoples and Central companies and the work was done as rapidly as cars reached respective stations.

THE STRIKE OVER.

PALESTINE, Tex., April 15.—The strike here is apparently ended. Of the 120 men working in the shops seventy-eight are old employees, some of whom were in the strike at St. Paul, Minn.

GOULD AND POWELL:

Jay Gould and Master Workman Powell have exchanged strong letters. Powell writes a masterly manifesto, inviting arbitration and Gould seems fearless of all threats.

A requisition for the deputies who did the shooting at East St. Louis was refused yesterday by Governor Ogleby, because the papers were not drawn according to the statute.

SCHOOL CHILDREN ON A STRIKE.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

COLUMBUS, O., April 15.—The pupils in one of the public school buildings struck for less time in the school room, and the police were called upon to enforce the orders of the teachers. Thirteen boys have been suspended and the strike is over.

THE TAILORS STRIKE.

MILWAUKEE, April 15.—The largest strike ever known in Milwaukee has been inaugurated by the shop tailors union. Over 4,000 operatives are affected. The strike is to secure the adoption of a new scale of prices. All of the wholesale establishments in the city are affected.

BOYCOTTERS ARRESTED.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Eight boy-scouting bakers who peddled circulars before the bakery of Mrs. Gray, last night, were arrested for disorderly conduct.

MARTIN IRONS,

The Leader of the Strikers on the Gould Railroads.

MARTIN IRONS.

The chairman of the executive committee of the Knights of Labor, district No. 101, is Martin Irons of St. Louis. He it was who precipitated the strike on the Missouri Pacific railroad by ordering the members of the Knights of Labor employed on the Gould system to quit work until their grievances were redressed. Mr. Irons is a Scotlander, stubborn, aggressive and self-reliant. In this respect he is said to resemble no man more than his antagonist, Vice-President and General Manager Toxie, of the Missouri Pacific. It is a contest in which the leaders are well matched. If the support on both sides were also equally balanced there would be a chance of victory resting with the right.

One of the results of the prominence given to Mr. Irons by this strike is a flood of telegrams and correspondence which pours in upon him every day. The majority of these letters bring encouragement, advice and substantial support. The autograph flood is also troubling him. He has received a request with an accompanying check of $50 for a five-page article from one of the magazines. Through his present notoriety he has also received a letter from a sister who has been seeking him for twenty years. His mother, it appears, died in New Orleans after the war leaving considerable property. They advertised in every way for Martin in order that he should receive his share of the estate, but were never able to find him until now.

The coal miners of the Brazil district draw $175,000 in wages monthly.

IN PARLIAMENT,

Where Mr. Gladstone Made His Speech for Ireland.

Next to the American civil war, the settlement of Ireland's troubles is the most important history that has been made in the last half of the Nineteenth century if they are settled, that is to say. Every lover of civilization and progress is hoping that they may be, and that they may be decided as Ireland wants them to be.

Nothing is more remarkable than the change which has taken place, both in Great Britain and America, in the sentiment on the Irish question. Home rule for the unhappy island was an idea scoffed with derision by all but a handful of dreamers and malcontents twenty years ago. "Solid" Americans and Englishmen alike ridiculed it.

But the Irish began to come over to America by the thousands. Shipped after shipload of them, exiles from their native isle, landed at Castle Garden and scattered thence throughout the length and breadth of the republic.

Along with him he brought his love for the old country, the hapless motherland. He thrived and begot children by the half score. To every one of these he gave a secret trust the love of Ireland and the remembrance of her wrongs. These children in turn thrived. They got education and money in this free land. They became lawyers, editors, congressmen, high officials and millionaires, and they multiplied. How they did multiply and increase! And every one of them to a man, and every daughter among the women cherished still the remembrance of old Ireland and her wrongs. Behold! Almost before anybody knew it there was a new Ireland in America—rich, united and strong. It became an element that no political neophyte dared ignore. Then at last the "solid" Americans themselves began to see that Ireland had wrongs; and it suddenly became clear to the soldiers that the Green Isle ought to have her own sayso about her own affairs.

So the change came about. It came about the same way in Great Britain. The Irish element, united under intelligent leadership, became too strong to be ignored.

GLADSTONE RISES TO SPEAK.

Those who have followed English politics have watched Gladstone gradually growing to the occasion. Year by year the course of natural statesmanship development has brought him to the lofty plane whence the other day he looked belligerently down on his lowly countrymen and proposed home rule for Ireland.

He is the most splendid figure in European statesmanship to-day. If he carry home rule for Ireland, he will be the grandest figure in Europe in the Nineteenth century. Barnard evinced a notion with blood and iron, but Gladstone will have fixed a people by the divine arts of peace. It is better, far better, to be Gladstone than Barnard.

Undoubtedly the greatest day of the pioneer's life will be that on which he introduced his bill for home rule for Ireland. They say there never was heard such cheering in the house of commons in all the centuries as when he arose to introduce his bill. It was so tremendous that it disconcerted him a little, and he paled before it when he first arose.

Very different is the English house of commons from our American house of representatives at Washington, and the difference is not in favor of the British organization either. For one thing, an English member has no particular seat through the season. It is first come, first served. A member may preserve a seat for one night by putting his card into a little brass receptacle at the back of a chair. He may also secure a quarter's claim by placing his hat upon a chair beforehand. This is called "latticing," and is very common. But it must be the hat which the member wears for the day; consequently he is obliged to walk around bareheaded while his hat guards his seat.

The present parliament house is upon the site of an old one which dated back to the time of Edward VI. The visitors' entrance to both the lords and the commons is through a beautiful long marble gallery called St. Stephen's Hall. The legal duration of one parliament is seven years. Members of both houses sit in session with their hats on. This is an old custom and a bad one.

UNDER THE SHEARS.

The Hair Cutter at a Fashionable Hair Dressers.

Special Correspondence.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The cutting of women's hair is a great industry in this city. All the feminine world wears bangs, and bangs must be cut once a month or every six weeks. None but an expert can cut them, either. The woman who cuts her own bangs is as far behind the style as the boy whose mother cuts his hair. At the hair cutting establishments which have the name of cutting the fashions a chance to be sheared is something to be grateful for. The fair applicants enter continually, pay their half dollar, secure their ticket and sit down to wait in the presence of the victim already in the cutter's hands.

One of the great hair dressing houses has a German cutter, who looks as though he knew nothing, but when it comes to hair he knows all things. He is elderly and bald; but, strange to say, not the least garrulous. Silence is literally golden to him. He has no time to talk, cutting and dressing the hair of thirty subjects daily, day after day. His shears fairly fly over the fair damsels' heads, and his manipulates the curling tongs with a skill and dexterity absolutely dazzling.

Just now the fashionable cut is in three layers, like three rows of shingles, which is curled, then combed upward directly in the middle and brought down a little on each side. The whole effect is flat, almost to the point of being bristling. Then, for thin-necked women, the hair is cut short at the back of the neck, curled and separated, to "hill in" back of the ears. This style is only adapted to women with small heads and slender necks. Like being the fashion, women with plump necks will insist upon it, with a result too astonishing to be described.

The old German not only cuts hair with a skill that approximates inspiration, but he dresses it exquisitely. His hands are like big, stubby cushions, but are twists and turns and pins and adjust till every head he manipulates looks as moist as a wax fixture. Curiously enough, they all seem to absorb a little of his nationality by passing through his hands. Every soul of them has, in spite of the fashionable coiffure, become a little bit of a Dutch woman. Twisting and coiling are mere play for the old man, twisting a ribbon, how bothers him, and when he has done it, it lacks the quality we call ease.

He thinks things, if he is silent. He does his best to discharge every expression from his face, but a close observer can read between the lines. He knows things well worth saying about the heads that he manipulates—what has streaked the hair, or killed it, or broken it off.

The ladies, conscious of guile in the matter of dyes and bleaches, do their best sometimes to throw him off the track; but they can't. He shuts his eyes up tighter, closes his mouth firmer, and nothing replies.

What is it to him what they do with their heads, anyway? Scarcely one woman out of thirty has healthful, beautiful hair. Girls of 13 are gray often, their hair dead or dying, stubby and broken. The general decay of hair has given rise to hosts of "hair doctors" and "scalp surgeons," men and women, many of them the most ignorant quacks, who drive a lively business on the declining capillary charms of women.

DEATH!

Quickly Sent Into the North West.

And Some Seventy-One Men, Women and Children are Suddenly Hurled Into Eternity.

The Towns St. Cloud and Sank Rapids are Torn to Pieces and Death Reigns.

THREE TOWNS

Devastated by a Most Destructive Whirlwind.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 15. About 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon a cyclone swept through the cities of St. Cloud and Sank Rapids, Minnesota, killing fifteen or more persons in each place and wrecking hundreds of buildings.

A special train with eleven physicians was sent out from Minneapolis at 6 o'clock.

The path cut through St. Cloud is six hundred yards wide.

Storms have been raging throughout the state for thirty hours, greatly impairing telegraphic communication.

The town of Coon Rapids, Iowa, was also visited by a cyclone at 4:30 p.m., the result being the death of a boy and the destruction of forty or more buildings.

GRASTON SIGHT.

This is a calamity the ghastly details of which have never been equaled since the harvest of death at New Ulm and Rochester a few years ago, and the cities groaning and writhing under a pall of grief that is intensified as each hour brings to light fresh evidence of the terrible work of the elements.

The sun rose where happiness reigned in every family, and their peace was not marred by any shadow of the terrible pall of gloom that settled down on the community before the sun had sunk to rest.

A few minutes after 4 o'clock the skies became overcast with a dark cloud, and a great black mass rose over the hills southwest of St. Cloud and coming with terrible velocity toward the western outskirts, in a direct line for the Manitoba freight yards.

THE CLOUDS HANG LOW.

and rolled over and over like smoke over a battle field, and were accompanied by a loud roaring and crackling sound that resembled a conflagration in its fury.

The cloud was funnel-shaped and the point dragged along the ground like the tail of a huge aerial beast, lashing everything that came in its path into atoms.

Citizens had hardly time to flee to their collars and seek other points of refuge before the whirlwind was on them and the air was filled with flying boards, shingles, bricks, and other debris, that were strewn over the country and piled in promiscuous heaps. It came from the southeast and moved in a northeasterly direction.

THE PARTICULARS TO-DAY.

SACK RAPIDS, Minn., April 15.—The devastation caused by a cyclone yesterday is terrible. Not a single business house is left standing on Main street and many residences are demolished. The court house is a heap of ruins, and several county officers were killed. The Union school house, Presbyterian and Congregational churches, postoffice, flouring mill and a large machine shop, were all converted into kindling wood in less time than it takes to toll it. Only the city hotel remains intact. The Northern Pacific depot was literally blown away, and a large number of freight cars overturned upon the tracks. Twenty-two dead bodies have been recovered from the ruins. A large number of people were injured. The total loss of property is not less than $200,000, with not a dollar of insurance. The lawn is nearly ruined. Among the killed and injured are:

John Reid, county auditor, killed.

Gregg Lindley, county recorder, severely wounded.

S. N. Wright, county treasurer, slightly injured.

AT JAMESTOWN, DAK.

Jamestown was visited yesterday afternoon by a small cyclone, followed by a heavy electrical storm.

OMAHA.

Special despatches from Panama, Ia., say the cyclone at Goshen Rapids yesterday was more serious than first expected.

One boy was killed, numerous other persons injured, twenty-five houses, two churches, one school house and several business houses destroyed. A freight train and its locomotive were blown from the truck and the contents were ruined. The cyclone swept over western Iowa, doing considerable damage.

FOURTY-NINE KILLED AND TWO HUNDRED INJURED.

At St. Cloud, Sank Rapids, Rice's station and other points in the vicinity there were forty-nine dead known early this morning and about 200 injured. Many are still missing who will probably be recovered to-day.

The sign "Sauk Rapids" in the Manitobah depot and a basketfull of books was found at Rice's station, fifteen miles distant. The storm extended from Jamestown, Dak., through Minnesota and Wisconsin.

AWFUL.

SEVENTY-ONE DEATHS ALREADY REPORTED.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

SR. PAUL, Minn., April 15.—At a church at Rice's station, twelve, instead of ten of a wedding party were killed, including the officiating minister.

At Sank Rapids thirty-one are already dead, and the list will be swelled to forty. At St. Cloud at least thirty deaths will result.

A BAD WRECK.

On the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne Railroad.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 15.—Passenger train No. 8 on the Fort Wayne road ran into the rear sleeper of the Chicago limited near Orrville, Ohio, this morning shortly before daylight, badly wrecking it. The express messenger John Aughbaugh, was internally injured. None of the passengers were seriously hurt, the accident is attributed to a failure of the air brake.

ONE MORE.

Near Youngstown, Ohio, this morning the night express on the Pittsburg and Lake Erie road ran into the caboose of a freight train, completely telescoping it. Engineer Robert Gray, Fireman Cooper and Conductor Carley, of the freight, were badly hurt.

A LEVEL-HEADED NEWSDEALER.

Newdealers are as a class popularly supposed to know a good thing when they see it, and are ever on the lookout for that which will interest and please the public. In a humble way Edison was once a news-dealer, having sold papers on railroads. Among newdealers who have a keen eye to business and to everything that can be of benefit is Mr. G. W. Dove, of Vincennes, Ind., whose place of business is at No. 114 Second street. Mr. Dove was recently afflicted with rheumatism, but quickly cured himself by using Athlophorus. Thus is what he says about it:

"Athlophorus is a good medicine and it did for me all that I could ask. At the time when I began using it I was sadly afflicted with rheumatism. I was in a helpless state and suffered most pain, not being able to get out of bed or to move without enduring the greatest agony. I had read some time before of the wonderful cures of people effected by Athlophorus, and at the time tried to buy it at the drug stores, but could not find any. As I was determined to try it I sent to the company for some."

"Did it act quickly upon you?"

"I felt the effects almost immediately.

After I had taken a few doses the pain subsided. The medicine seemed to go directly where the pain was."

"Have you had any return of the pain?"

"I have not suffered any to speak of since. I used only three bottles and consider it the best medicine for rheumatism that I know of. I recommended it to a gentleman in St. Louis who had his mother use some and was very much pleased with the result. I have recommended it to different persons, and in every instance where it was used it gave entire satisfaction."

J. A. Wilson, the well-known photographer, 6 and 8 Main St., New Albany, tells an equally interesting story of how Athlophorus cured him of rheumatism: "I only used one bottle," he says. "The rheumatism was in my arms and I had sharp shooting pains. I was suffering and complaining great deal, when a friend coming into my gallery one morning asked me what the trouble was. I said it was rheumatism. Said my friend: 'I was reading of a medicine that is for the cure of rheumatism and neuralgia. It struck me forcibly, as it did not claim to cure every complaint that flesh is heir to.' When I asked him what it was he said the name was Athlophorus. I bought a bottle on the strength of what he said. That was all I needed. I used the one bottle over six months ago and have not had a pain or an ache from rheumatism since."

From Greencastle, Ind., D. L. Southard has this to say of what Athlophorus did for him:

"When Bishop Bowman brought me a bottle of Athlophorus I was suffering greatly from rheumatism and could scarcely move. I began taking the medicine on Thursday morning. At 9 P. M. I went to sleep and slept until 6 o'clock Friday morning, when I got up and said to my wife: 'Dear, look here, I am well.' At the first I was much better than I stopped using the medicine and the rheumatism came back. The second attack was not stopped so easily, but still in doubt the time the Athlophorus removed the pain. The medicine had no unpleasant effect, but seemed to quiet, soothe and give relief."

If you cannot get Athlophorus of your druggist, we will and offer price paid on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us, as directed.

When the "Life Restoring" East India Remedy is at hand. One bottle will satisfy the most skeptical that Dr. H. JAMES' preparation of Indian Hemp will positively cure Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Nervous Complaints, and Nasal Catarrh. It is an important remedy. Try it, prove it for yourself.

Here are a few extracts from letters of persons who were Cured, and now order for their friends:

"I fear cousin is in decline, and as thy medicines cured my only brother of a Hemorrhage of the lungs, about a year ago, I wish cousin to take them." Thy true friend,

HANNAH NICKLE, New Woodbury, N. J.

"As thy medicine cured me of Consumption, some three years ago, I want him to try them. I gained fifteen pounds while taking the first three bottles." J. V. True, Lawrenceburg, Anderson Co., Ky.

"Mother has been suffering with Bronchitis nearly twenty years, and tried most all kinds of medicine, and says the Cannabis India is the only thing that gives her relief." JANE A. ASHBRIDGE, Loveland, Gallia Co., Ky.

"I know all about the Cannabis India. Fifteen years ago I cured my daughter of the Asthma; she had it very bad for several years, but was perfectly cured. Please send me a $1 box of your medicine." JACOB TROUT, Deep River, Westmoreland Co., Iowa.

"I have taken the Cannabis India as directed, and am happy to tell you that I am perfectly cured of Nasal Catarrh. You were right, my trouble was not Consumption, but Catarrh." JAMES A. CALDWELL, Waukegan, Ill., Chicago, Ill.

"It has cured Mrs. Rehort of General Debility of the whole system, of two or three years' standing and others trying it with success." BEBOY'S & LESLIE'S, Simpson's Store, Washington county, Pa.

Ask your druggist for Dr. H. JAMES' Cannabis India, and if they tell you send to us direct, $2.50 per bottle or three bottles for $6.00. Pill and Ointment, $1.00 each. CHADDOCK & CO., proprietors, 1023 Race St., Philadelphia, Pa.

REPORT OF CITY ATTORNEY

In the matter of the bonds of the assessors, which are in all things regular and sufficient and I recommend their approval.

In the matter of the Tabor petition, asking that lot 5 in Ewing's lots be taxed for the year 1885 at township rates. I recommend the mayor of said petitioner be not granted.

The property in question is a street street, which is one of said petitioners lots.

It is more than five acres, while both parcels exceed that quantity and it is my opinion strongly construing the statute against the exemption as the law directs, that the legislature intended to exempt only such lands as are unplanted or are used for agricultural purposes, or wholly unimproved, and being in one tract or parcel not less than five acres in quantity.

THE OREGON'S CABIN.

One Hundred and Twenty Feet Below the Ocean's Surface.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Mr. Merritt, of the wrecking company that has charge of the sunken Oregon, was seen at his dock, at Stapleton, Staten Island, where is kept the powerful machinery and peculiarly-built vessels requisite for this hazardous business. Mr. Merritt was not in the very best of humor in speaking of the Oregon. He wished he had never undertaken the job. In their business the risks are tremendous and the profits uncertain. It is based on the no cure, no pay principle. "Here we have had a force of some thirty odd men, besides a steamer and schooner, hovering over the wreck for a month," continued Mr. Merritt, "and we have accomplished very little. A New York newspaper, becoming impatient at our delay, engaged a single tug and a couple of divers to visit the wreck and make an immediate investigation. The reporters in charge of the expedition got so deadly sick that they insisted on returning home. The tug itself was nearly swamped in the sea, and the expedition, which ended in a day, cost the paper over $200. That newspaper has spoken less harshly of our work since.

It was argued that there was a marriage because the parties had knelt down in New Hampshire and, with uplifted hands, called God to witness that they intended to live together as man and wife. There was no other marriage ceremony, but this has held good for eighteen years and Judge Oliver Holmes, Jr., in deciding the case said: "Had counsel stopped here I should have assumed that a marriage had taken place, no evidence to the contrary being introduced on the other side." But Gen. Butler went on at great length and argued the facts which he claimed constituted a marriage and this left no opportunity for the court to make a presumption. Judge Holmes concluded:

It was argued that there was a marriage because the parties had knelt down in New Hampshire and, with uplifted hands, called God to witness that they intended to live together as man and wife; that they acknowledged deeds before a justice of the peace.

man and wife, and visited New York, where they registered at a hotel and held themselves out as being married. I cannot find that the actions in New Hampshire constituted a marriage any more than they would, if done in this State. Neither does the acknowledging of the deeds before a justice of the peace constitute an acknowledgment by the parties that they intended to become man and wife before him, and I cannot believe that the State of New York has held of persons unawares and given to their acts a construction never dreamed of by them when they are merely transitory residents in the State.

The motion was dismissed, and the sole lawyer lost his case by proving more than was necessary.

BAB BREATH arises from the stomach, and can be easily corrected if you take Simmons Liver Regulator. It is peculiarly adapted to the stomach, correcting acidity, destroying foul gases and alloying inflammation. Take, after eating, a half-tablespoonful, it assimilates with the food and ensures perfect digestion, without which that repulsive disorder, bad breath, must ensue. The Regulator removes biliousness, cures dyspepsia, constipation and sick headache, is purely vegetable and harmless.

I used to be troubled with severe headaches two or three times a week, but since using the balm have only had one and that was very light compared with the former ones.—A. J. Alecorn, Agent U. P. ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, relieves all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Jan. 19—Cudahy.

BEN BUTLER can be said to have given the Massachusetts Supreme Court "too much of a good thing" in his argument defending Maria Taylor Norcross in her suit for alimony pending her application for divorce from Alvin C. Norcross. The case turned on the question of the legality of an agreement to live together as man and wife. There was no other marriage ceremony, but this has held good for eighteen years and Judge Oliver Holmes, Jr., in deciding the case said: "Had counsel stopped here I should have assumed that a marriage had taken place, no evidence to the contrary being introduced on the other side." But Gen. Butler went on at great length and argued the facts which he claimed constituted a marriage and this left no opportunity for the court to make a presumption.

Senator Teller dressed in black and combs his hair without a part, a la pompadour.

A double-headed calf with two distinct and perfectly formed skulls and necks was born on the farm of a Mr. Putney in Pow Pow township, Wabash county. The body of the animal in no wise differs from that of an ordinary calf. The life of the brute cannot be preserved.
